IS ELVIS ALIVE?

A BOMBSHELL FBI REPORT SAYS PRESLEY REALLY COULD BE ALIVE — A FIRST LOOK AT THIS BREAKING STORY INSIDE!

Scientists reveal:

TIME TRAVEL IS POSSIBLE

Time travel is possible — and many people have already taken trips deep into the past!

That is the only logical explanation for dozens of mysterious, well-documented occurrences that have taken place around the world, according to researcher J.H. Brennan, author of the recent book Time Travel: a New Perspective (Llewellyn Publications, $12.95).

After Albert Einstein published his Theory of Relativity — showing that time and space are one and can be distorted by motion — the idea that a time machine might one day be invented slowly became an accepted possibility among many top physicists.

"On the basis of four-dimensional Einsteinian

HUNDREDS of man-made metal balls have been found buried in South Africa, and scientists say these were made long before man appeared on Earth.

Shocking evidence proves people

space-time, they could not really see what there was to stop you," says Brennan, who has lectured widely throughout Great Britain and Ireland.

"Recently even Steven Hawking, recognized as the world's greatest living physicist, has become a supporter of the possibility of time travel."

In addition, bizarre "time slips," in which ordinary people have found themselves suddenly catapulted into the past, show that time travel can take place even without any high-tech gizmos!

Here is some of the extraordinary evidence Brennan has gathered showing that humans can, will, and indeed have, traveled through time:

ANACHRONISMS — Many objects have been found at ancient archaeological sites yet appear to come from a much more modern era. "A large number of these finds seem totally impossible. The only explanation is that they're litter left behind by time travelers from our future," says Brennan.

Some examples:

● In recent years, miners near Otjosdal, South Africa, have discovered hundreds of solid metal balls buried deep below the surface of the Earth. The spheres are made of an unidentified material so hard they can't be scratched by steel and some have three parallel grooves cut around their center, proving they are man-made. Yet the antiquity of the sediment in which the mystery spheres were found indicates they must be at least 2.8 BILLION years old — putting them well before any mammal evolved on Earth, including man!

● In 1922, geologist John T. Reid was prospecting for fossils in Nevada when he stumbled on what appeared to be the petrified remains of the sole of a leather shoe. Clearly visible was the stitching as well as the wear pattern of a human foot. Shoe manufacturers who examined the find stood categorically that they were looking at the remnants of a shoe. Yet when the block in which it was found was shown to experts at the Smithsonian Museum of Natural History, they agreed it dated from the Triassic period — the time of the earliest dinosaurs!

POSSILIZED SHOEPRINT has scientists baffled. Experts say it dates back to the time of the dinosaurs.

Also, in the late 1800s draftsman Wilbur Meister found a human footprint in a block of shale near Antelope Spring, Utah. The shale — which also contained fossils of long-extinct creatures known as trilobites — dated back at least 500 million years, university experts determined.

"What we have is an indication that a representative of the human race was strolling through Utah 500 million years ago," observes Brennan.

● In 1966, archaeologists investigating fossils in a 43 million-year-old chalk bed near Saint-Jean de Livet in France came upon a number of odd-shaped metal tubes. Scientists can't explain how the tubes got there since man didn't come on the scene until about 70 million years ago.

● In 1936, researchers discovered a battery at an archaeological dig at the remains of a Parthian village that existed in what is now Iran no later than 225 A.D. But no one is known to have used electricity before the 1800s. A scientist made a replica of the device and it worked perfectly!

METALLIC TUBES found in 43 million-year-old chalk beds appear to have been left behind by human time travelers.

● In 1900, a mysterious metal object was found in the wreck of a ship that sank in about 80 B.C. off the Greek island of Antikythera. The object included a sophisticated system of meshing gears — although no such mechanisms were invented for at least another 1,500 years!

"The artifact seems to have been a working model of the universe designed to show various laws of motion in action," reveals Brennan.

He notes that Yale University history professor Dr. Derek de Solla Price speculated the Antikythera Mechanism and stated flatly, "From all we know of science and technology in the Hellenistic Age . . . such a device could not exist."

TWO RESPECTED Englishwomen reported entering a time warp and meeting the 18th century French queen Marie Antoinette.

TIME SLIPS — Scientists are baffled by a handful of cases in which individuals have mysteriously found themselves sent into the past for brief but sometimes terrifying periods.

One explanation for this is that time does not exist objectively at all but is merely a function of the human mind, observes Brennan.

"In other words, what we experience as time is nothing more than the way our mind orders events so that we can make sense of our experiences.

"Then time must be susceptible to mental control."

Some examples of machine-free time travel:

● In 1913 Arnold Toynbee, 23, was visiting Mt. Pharsalus in Greece when suddenly he found himself back in 197 B.C., when the forces of Philip of Macedon battled the Roman army there. A mist parted, allowing Toynbee to see the battle — and the slaughter was so horrific he had to turn away. After a few moments, the scene disappeared and the young man was back in the peaceful sunlit present.

"This is a very impressive case because of Toynbee's later prestige — he went on to become renowned as one of the greatest historians of this century," says Brennan.

● One August afternoon in 1901, two respected Englishwomen — Miss Charlotte Moberly, Principal of St. Hughs Hall at the University of Oxford, and Miss Eleanor Jourdain, founder of a school for girls — were on holiday in France.

While visiting the Petit Trianon, a minor palace at Versailles given to Queen Marie Antoinette by her husband King Louis XVI in 1774, they suddenly felt themselves becoming disoriented.

As they walked through the sprawling palace gardens they encountered a number of people who were wearing 18th-century clothing — and spoke in an archaic form of French. Eventually they found their way out of the maze-like gardens and everything returned to normal.

When they visited the palace again a short time later, they found that the grounds looked totally different. Curious, they studied history books and were able to ascertain from pictures that they had seen the palace as it existed in the time of Louis XVI.

And they realized that a woman they had encountered was the beautiful queen Marie Antoinette, herself!

● In 1940, mountaineer Frank L. Smythe was hiking through a grassy hollow near Glen Glencoach in the Scottish highlands when he experienced a time slip and found himself in ancient times. He watched in amazement as a small group of men, women and children walked by — straight into an ambush laid by men wielding spears, axes and clubs. The entire party was massacred and Smythe was so horrified he ran from the scene.

He later did research into the area and discovered that the spot had indeed been the location of a massacre.

TIME MACHINE — A real-life time machine has already been designed! A physicist named Frank Tipler put the world's first time machine on the drawing board in 1973 — and incredibly, it bears a close resemblance to the immense tunnel used to transport scientists into the past and future in the classic '60s TV series Time Tunnel.

"Einstein's Theory of Relativity suggests that if we construct a sufficiently large rotating cylinder, we create a time machine," Tipler contended.

The principle behind the Tipler Cylinder, which would float in outer space, is simple, explains Brennan. "If it's big enough, dense enough and spinning fast enough, it warps space-time.

"Most physicists believe it would indeed make time travel possible."

The warp generated can be used as a "gate" for visiting the past or future (see illustration at right).

"Pass through one door, in which time moves backward, and you would emerge in the past. Pass through another zone of forward-flowing time and you'd emerge in the future," says Brennan.

A flying "time ship" would be needed to make the fantastic voyages, he explains.

"Once your cylinder is in place and spinning, the time machine is ready to use. To do so, have your ship's computer plot a course that lets you approach the cylinder and on.

"When it enters the right zone you are no longer flying through space. You have switched to the fourth dimensional axis and are flying through time!"

UFOS — The countless sightings of flying saucers may not indicate visitations from space aliens, but travelers from the future, notes Brennan. Because of the enormous gravitational forces involved in negotiating a time warp, he points out, "the only logical shape for a time ship would be a flattened disc — what one might call a flying saucer."

This might actually explain why many female UFO abduction report having been sexually assaulted by their captors.

There is no reason to believe, the author says, that a real space alien would show any more sexual desire for an Earth woman than would an alligator. "It is unlikely that aliens would be interested in or even equipped for rape — the same cannot be said for humanity.

"It is possible that these are our very, very distant descendants and their bodies have evolved, giving them bigger brains, vestigial noses and black, nocturnal eyes, as 'aliens' have been described.

"Flying saucers may not be craft from an alien planet but craft from a distant future of our own."

THIS WEEK'S SIX LUCKIEST LOTTERY NUMBERS:

3 9 22 27 38 41

CLIP & SAVE FOR YOUR WALLET

3 9 22 27 38 41

Weekly World News has purchased exclusive rights to the world's most powerful computer — and we're going use it to pick the six luckiest lottery numbers every week!

The Swiss-built computer, called Bright Green, has the ability to calculate which lottery numbers are most likely to come up each week, based on previous performances.

The numbers will be used for providing readers with a convenient wallet-size list of the lucky numbers to take to their local ticket vendor, at left.

"Experts are just now beginning to understand that you can use past performances of randomly selected numbers to predict future results," said computer programmer Richard Brennan. "Although this is not possible — but extremely complicated mathematical formulas prove it indeed is."

The computer will scan all the numbers selected in lotteries across the United States and weigh those results against past performances. More value is given to the most recently selected numbers.

"Using all the possible data, the computer will pick the luckiest numbers for each week," Lennon said. "We think we have the system down to a science, but there are no guarantees. Each week will not guarantee a winning ticket in any particular state lottery.

"We will provide the luckiest numbers but mathematically it's possible that other numbers could be drawn in your particular state," he said.

"However, if you stick with the Bright Green's lucky numbers, you'll put yourself in an excellent position to win!"

10 things you should NEVER tell your boss!

You should be very careful when chatting with your boss — in fact, two psychologists say there are 10 things you should never, ever say to your employer:

By JUNE SAWYER
Weekly World News

1. "I'm depressed and I want to stay home." It's better to say you have a cold. The boss prefers excuses that are acceptable in business.

2. "I love you" or "I love someone else here in the office." Never mix your social and personal lives — no matter what!

3. "You made a mistake!" It is always wise to be a diplomat, even if your boss is wrong or has forgotten to tell you something important.

4. "I had a huge fight with my spouse." Your boss does not have the time, energy or desire to be drawn into your domestic disputes.

5. "I hate your political candidate." Stay away from controversial subjects like politics, abortion, etc. You won't change your boss' mind, and if he has to make a choice it will be against you.

6. "I have a hangover." Just say you've got a headache and leave it at that. Your boss will obviously think less of you if you confess that you've been on a drunken spree.

7. "I got fired from my last job." Your boss is going to wonder why you're making such a big point of a past firing. If the question comes up, just tell him, "My previous employer and I made a mutual decision about my employment there."

8. "My ex-boss was a jerk." When your boss hears you say this, he's going to wonder what you'll be saying about him.

9. "You are overweight" or "You smoke too much." Chances are, your boss already knows that and won't appreciate hearing it from you. In order to avoid hearing it, he'll start avoiding you or possibly have you transferred.

WIFE FORCES HUSBAND TO TAKE SEX LESSONS

. . . then dumps him when he becomes too hot to handle!

By KEVIN CREED / Weekly World News

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — Janice Dempster made headlines last year when she went to court to force her husband to improve his sex skills. Now she's gone back to court to divorce him — claiming he's become a sex addict and he's driving her crazy.

The exhausted housewife says that after a judge ordered her husband George to improve his love skills or face a $40,000 fine he got so involved in sex he got hooked on it. Now she claims her over-enthusiastic mate is wearing her out because he wants to make love 24 hours a day.

"I just don't have the energy for that much pleasure," says Janice, who admits her husband is now a great lover.

The Dempsters' bizarre story came to light back in February when Janice confronted her husband for cheating her of her marital right to a good sexual relationship.

"He's completely insensitive to my needs," she told the court. "His idea of love is a two-minute tussle and a little squeeze."

After the judge ordered him to become a better lover or face an enormous fine, Dempster took the relief sitting ruling to heart and went from dud to stud in two months.

He spent hours studying sex manuals, watching porno films and embarking on an intensive physical fitness program to improve his endurance.

"I thought it was great at first," Janice admits.

"He became everything a woman could want. He made wonderful passionate love to me, sometimes three and four times a night.

"But after a while it turned into a nightmare. I never got any sleep. He would want sex night and day."

Janice says she became so tired she began suffering from sweatiness and fainting — and was eventually hospitalized.

Doctors prescribed bed rest, but her husband made that impossible.

"George kept sneaking into my room and crawling into bed with me," she recalls. "No matter what I said, he just wouldn't let me rest."

Sources close to Janice say the haggard woman has aged about 10 years in the last six months and they blame her over-amorous soon-to-be-ex-husband.

"It's sad but divorce is the only way out for her," says one longtime friend and neighbor.

Dempster is baffled by his wife's divorce action. "Women," the 39-year-old furniture repairman says, "I'll never figure them out."

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING! Janice Dempster, left, wanted her husband George to hone his lovemaking skills. She got more than she bargained for when her dud turned into a superstud.

VAMPIRE HUNTERS

Interpol fiend-fighters have bagged 257 bloodsuckers since January!

By KEVIN CREED / Weekly World News

VIENNA, Austria — A highly specialized SWAT team is wiping out some of the most dangerous killers in the world — deadly vampires!

The ace fiend-fighters are a little-publicized branch of the international police force, Interpol, hand-picked and trained to stem the growing tide of vampire attacks all over the world.

The squad, created in 1986, battles the monsters at dusk, sometimes incinerating them with torches or flamethrowers as they emerge from their crypts, sometimes using more conventional methods like silver bullets, holy water and wooden stakes.

"Interpol doesn't like us to talk to the press," says an agent who spoke on the condition of anonymity.

"But the vampire problem is not going to go away by itself. We need to let people know we're out there so they don't hesitate to report vampires whenever and wherever they strike."

The vampire SWAT team, known as Interfang, has killed 257 of the eight-stalking creatures since January.

It is dispatched by international police authorities in response to complaints from citizens, police departments and government officials and is financed by a secret United Nations slush fund.

Composed of 12 to 15 highly trained officers protected by special crosses or necklaces of garlic, the team tracks vampires to their lairs, then destroys them as they sleep or when they emerge from their crypts.

But in spite of the SWAT team's efforts, the number of vampire attacks is mounting and officials are deeply concerned.

"The team has destroyed these bloodsuckers all over my country," said Nigel Reeves, a high-ranking police official in Sydney, Australia, who has called on Interfang three times in the past year.

"Watching them at work is terrifying. These vampires come flying at them, teeth flashing, wings flapping. She they're going to kill them all. But SWAT team members stand their ground, flash a large, heavy cross and step up fearlessly with their flaming torches."

Experts say the modern "torch" method is a more effective method of killing vampires than the older, more traditional "stake in the heart" technique.

But even with modern techniques of vampire slaying, officials are falling behind in the battle against the bloodsucking fiends.

"Vampires are killing more and more people every year," said the Interfang source.

"If they don't kill by draining their victims' blood, they leave them severely injured or give them AIDS.

"They are a serious problem," said the spokesman.

He urged anyone who sees a vampire to contact authorities so that Interfang

Joint efforts by the FBI, CIA and private investigators reveal 83 percent chance Presley faked his death!

IS ELVIS ALIVE?

WEEKLY WORLD NEWS EXCLUSIVE!

Secret FBI file called 'The E.P. Papers' claims The King is ready to come out of hiding!

WASHINGTON — A new, secret FBI report lends strong support to widespread rumors that rock legend Elvis Presley faked his death on Aug. 16, 1977 — and is still alive!

And what's more, there is some evidence that he's ready to come out of hiding.

Since the tragic summer day Elvis purportedly died in Memphis, Tenn., thousands of Americans have reported seeing the man the world came to know as "The King" alive and well. The reports have come from people in all walks of life, and from every strata of society — even people who were never fans of Presley's music.

On Sept. 19, 1977 — just over one month after Presley was allegedly found dead in the bathroom of his Graceland mansion — the Federal Bureau of Investigation opened an official, but highly secret, inquiry into the singer's death. It enlisted the cooperation of the CIA and two Washington-based private detective agencies.

"The FBI never told us why they were investigating his alleged death," says Quentin Untersee, a detective with one of the freelance agencies. "But it's my understanding that Presley was an undercover agent and the investigation had to do with that.

"But I'll tell you this. It's the most exhaustive investigation I've ever been involved in. It took 10 years.

"We had to check out thousands of leads and submit our data to the FBI. The agents then ran all the information through their state-of-the-art computer to determine if there is any conclusive proof that Mr. Presley may still be alive."

Untersee, 55, says the report stunned him.

"The FBI told us the report should not, under any circumstances, be given to the press," he says. "But I can't in good conscience keep it from the millions who loved Mr. Presley's music and would be heartened to know he is still alive."

By RANDY JEFFRIES
Weekly World News

The report, which runs to more than 1,000 pages, is made up of excerpts from the FBI file known as "The E.P. Papers".

● Careful scrutiny of the medical examiner's report, autopsy data, statements from paramedics and eyewitness testimony of those at Graceland on the afternoon of Aug. 16, 1977, present wildly contradictory accounts. According to the computerized evaluation of the data, the chances that the death was faked are an alarming 83 percent.

● We are now in possession of letters from Mr. Presley to 19 of his close friends indicating — sometimes directly — that the singer planned to fake his death to escape the pressures of a career that was overwhelming him.

● The sightings over the years are not random, as previously believed. For instance, on March 11, 1978, there were 348 Elvis sightings in Butte, Mont. — and only three others nationwide. On July 24, 1981, there were at least 191 reports by people in a small Iowa farm town that Presley was living there. Most have been at various places in the tiny town. There were no other sightings that day anywhere else in the country.

All these reports coming from the same place at the same time strongly indicate that he was indeed there.

● Few of the people who claim to have seen Elvis Presley alive are hysterical, unstable attention-seekers. For the most part they're responsible people with jobs who are respected in their communities.

Quentin Untersee has investigated Elvis' death for nearly 20 years.

They are people who have nothing to gain from claiming to see Mr. Presley and everything to lose. The fact that they would risk their reputations is a strong indicator that they're telling the truth.

The document concludes by saying: "The evidence that Mr. Presley is alive is by no means conclusive. He may be dead.

"But detailed analyses of all factors indicate the chances are 87 out of 100 that he is alive at the age of 62.

"Furthermore, anecdotal evidence such as phone calls to friends, and recently penned letters in handwriting remarkably similar to Presley's, indicate that he is ready to come out of hiding."

For gals only! HOW TO ASK A MAN OUT ON A DATE

Millions of courageous American women are asking that special man out on dates — and men like it a lot, say experts.

"Women's lib has made it okay for us to do the asking," says clinical psychologist Marie Edwards, coauthor of The Challenge of Being Single. "I've worked with more than 4,000 singles, and when I questioned men about how they felt when a woman asked them out, most said they were pleased and complimented."

"Most men were absolutely delighted!" Dr. Nancy Russo, a psychologist, agreed. Here are some of their suggestions for asking a man for a date:

- Be creative and have a specific activity in mind. "Think about what to do besides going out to eat and drink," said Dr. Russo. "You could suggest a bicycle ride, a concert or horseback riding."
- Do not pick a specific time or day. "Just say 'I was going to get tickets for this new show. Would you be interested in coming with me?' If you've pinpointed a particular time and he can't make it then, you'll feel rejected," Miss Edwards cautioned.
- Suggest a Dutch treat date. "This will let him know that you're not a gold digger and that you're willing to go halfway," Miss Edwards said.
- Find men with interests similar to yours. Men you meet at lectures, sporting events or libraries are there for the same reason you are, so small talk should be easy.

The 10 marriage myths that wreck lives and families!

By BEATRICE DEXTER / Weekly World News

Here are 10 myths that can ruin a marriage or make a bad one worse, according to an expert.

MYTH #1 — Husbands and wives should always be best friends.

FACT — Best friends are almost always of the same sex. No matter how close a married couple are, even related best in most, and women get along best with other women.

MYTH #2 — A marriage will fulfill all of your dreams.

FACT — Not always. People shouldn't marry merely for the sake of marriage itself because the relationship may lack joy, kindness and love — leaving them intolerable.

MYTH #3 — Husbands and wives should do everything together.

FACT — It's often best for couples to pursue their own interests. There's no reason a husband should be made to go to the ballet, or a wife should be forced to watch football.

MYTH #4 — Good husbands do the household repairs; good wives do laundry.

FACT — Not necessarily. Rather than fight over who should be a 50-50 partnership, couples often say they'd should do certain chores; sometimes it's best for one like the relative peace and mate to break the traditional quiet that follows a divorce. If sexual barrier and do his or her mate's job.

MYTH #5 — Having a child will solve the problems of a bad marriage.

FACT — No it won't. All the hard work of caring for the child will further weaken the marriage. It has also been shown that a man could come to envy the attention his wife is lavishing on a new baby.

A child will strengthen a marriage only if it's already a good relationship.

MYTH #6 — Marriage

ople is unhappy, they don't stay together just children's sake."

MYTH #7 — Competition between spouses adds sparkle to a marriage.

FACT — Competition often leads to open hostility — especially when it comes to wage-earning. It is still true that men like to be dominant in a relationship.

MYTH #8 — Don't have sex when you're angry.

FACT — Making love while angry can help clear the air.

Q Leonard Nimoy has been permanently typecast, thanks to his role as Mr. Spock in Star Trek on the unbelievable Vulcan Mr. Spock. Is it true that he secretly hates his alter ego?

-- Janet N., Mesa, Ariz.

A No — that would be illogical. Nimoy says he's "always been ecstatically loyal" to the jointly owned character, and that he's quite satisfied to divide work between the character that the fan club loves (Mr. Spock says we can enjoy having conversations as long as I don't quote him. Q A friend told me that three brothers from the old Jackson Five have gotten back together and have formed a new group called 3T. How's it all working out?

— Steven G., Columbus, Ohio

A What you're referring to as a "group" is made up of the MTV-ish of 34-year-old Tito Jackson, Michael's big brother and one of the original Jackson Five. Tito, Jermaine and Jackie [?] have made their debut with a single that's getting a lot of airplay on the Black radio stations. But their video is made it appear that there's a lot more to the group than there is. Tito's single is called "Hold On," and it's a pretty good song. But it's not a big hit. It's not even a big hit on the Black radio stations. It's not even a big hit on the Black radio stations. It's not even a big hit on the Black radio stations

MEDICAL RESEARCHERS PROVE

LUST CAUSES HEART ATTACKS

MEDICAL WARNING: Looking at girls like these could land you in a hospital with a heart wreck. Constant levels of sexual excitement over many years can substantially shorten the male lifespan, a respected surgeon claims.

Looking at big boobs & hot legs makes adrenalin [illegible], says famed heart surgeon!

SYDNEY, Australia — Lusting after shapely women puts a tremendous strain on a man's heart — and can take as many as 10 years off his life, a new study reveals.

By MIKE FOSTER

"Lust is a very stressful emotion," explained famous heart surgeon Dr Aaron Kingsley, who contributed the five year study of more than 100 middle-aged men.

"The average male spends much of his time ogling attractive women. Yet in most cases, he will achieve sexual relations with very few of them. The result is heightened stress levels.

"Over time, this added stress leads to an increased risk of heart attack and stroke.

In the study, physicians at the Bean Heart Institute in Sydney tracked the health of 101 male factory workers as well as an equal number of monks from a nearby monastery.

These monks belong to an order in which men were vowed to stay away from women. Most of the same life stresses as the factory workers, said Dr Kingsley, a leading cardiologist and director of the Bean Institute.

Because of that, there are no sexual pressures on their work, eating habits and they have little or no exposure to sexual stimuli.

The results astonished researchers. The monks were found to have the healthiest hearts among the men, with the factory workers next and the executives last.

"What a male doesn't realize is that the sight of beautiful women actually damages the heart," said Dr Kingsley. "A pounding heart and high blood pressure can't help but take its toll on the body."

Dr Kingsley suggests that to avoid [illegible] heart problems, men should learn the following steps:

● Never stare after an attractive woman. Break the habit of averting your eyes.

● Avoid places where attractive women congregate. Shopping malls, beaches and discos are the worst offenders.

● Discard any magazines, movies or books which contain erotic depictions of the male body, or shapely females, such as Playboy for women and Cosmopolitan for men.

● Make sure that any female you employ in your household help, such as babysitters, are unattractive.

"A plump, wrinkled, grey-haired housekeeper would be a better choice than a curvaceous sixteen-year-old blonde," said the expert. "By taking these simple precautions, a man can add a decade to his life."

Most Americans believe in angels, miracles & life after death!

Fascinating new surveys reveal what Weekly World News readers have known all along — that a majority of Americans believe in miracles, angels and life after death.

And a startling nine out of 10 people believe in God, says a poll conducted by the National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago.

But even more astounding:

- 70 percent of Americans believe in miracles.
- 40 percent say they've had contact with the souls of dead.
- 78 percent believe in life after death.

A survey of Americans by Time magazine reports that 69 percent believe in the existence of angels and 46 percent believe they have a guardian angel. Only 32 percent didn't believe in guardian angels.

Harvard Divinity School offers a course on angels and Boston College has two courses on angels. Dr. Billy Graham's book, Angels: God's Secret Agents, sold 2.6 million copies.

"The skeptics in the news media have been reluctant to write about people who have witnessed miracles, seen angels or experienced life-after-death encounters," one pollster commented.

"These people have been written off as kooks and their stories tossed in the trash can by the mainstream press."

But the WEEKLY WORLD NEWS is one publication that hasn't turned its back on readers and others who have had miraculous or religious experiences. We've reported hundreds of these amazing stories every year.

WE HAVE LIVED BEFORE!

By JUNE SAWYER

A university professor uncovered startling proof of reincarnation when his hypnotized subjects gave chillingly accurate, detailed descriptions of events that took place long before they were born!

One woman recalled a past life in which she was burned alive by Indians when her wagon train was attacked on a mountain trail! A middle-aged attendant remembered living vividly as a cavewoman — and a little Negro athlete gave details of life as a farmer's wife in the days of the revolution!

[illegible] by recalled being past lives in ways they had never suspected and knew nothing about," declared psychiatrist Dr. Raymond A. Moody, Jr.

A Georgia woman who was regressed to previous lives found herself in the skin of a pioneer girl in the late 1800's — and Dr. Moody suffered a coronary thrombosis!

"This woman's wagon train became trapped in the Rocky Mountains during a blizzard and were forced to resort to cannibalism to survive.

"This woman had never studied U.S. history — and had absolutely no prior knowledge of the Donner party.

"In her previous life, the woman was a 10-year-old girl named Mary who was trapped in the snow. And I recall other people from the wagon train.

"Her mother was terrible to her — but Mary had deep suspicions that she was eating her own grandfather who had just died, but she was so hungry she didn't care.

"As time dragged on, more and more old people began to disappear from the group — and Mary knew the [illegible] were eating them!

[illegible] were skeptical when Dr. Moody announced his plans to conduct psychiatric tests on people who claimed to have experienced life in a previous life.

"In the previous life, almost 100 years ago, I was a pioneer girl. But I have several children — and their contrasted a deadly disease. While the [illegible] and their father cried, the woman who was Kerry in the previous life just died away.

Dr. Moody began his investigations — only to find himself a confirmed skeptic — but he was startled!

"The incredible detail of these memories, and the fact that they were so real to [illegible] people's minds, [illegible] the experiences convince me that they are not memories of past lives.

Rain Forest Wonder Herb Now Available in the United States Without a Prescription!

THIS JUNGLE PILL WILL CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

SALT LAKE CITY, [illegible] — [illegible] may to be one of the most powerful herbs on the planet is now available in the United States without a prescription and costs just pennies a day. The rain forest herb Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is not only relied on by millions of true and grateful believers, it is guaranteed to change your life in a matter of hours, days or in truly stubborn circumstances, weeks, excited experts report.

Incredibly, Learn a Secret. According to Dr. Dmitriy Schmuckhowski, author of the important book, Herbs of the Amazon, Traditional and Common Uses, Una de Gato, which means "Cat's Claw" in Spanish, is a treasured and revered component of a rich tradition that has been tested and proven over a history of continuous use spanning hundreds of years.

"Rain forest herbs like Una de Gato clearly are among the purest and most powerful found in nature," declared Dr. Schmuckhowski. "They also are among the most thoroughly tested, having been used by the indigenous peoples of the Amazon for hundreds of years."

Dr. Schmuckhowski isn't the only expert singing the praises of Una de Gato (Cat's Claw), which is derived from the bark of a thorny vine that grows abundantly in the Amazon rain forest.

The testimonials from ordinary people who now count themselves among a growing legion of "Cat's Claw believers" are full of praise on heartfelt and sometimes tearful expressions of pure joy.

E.F. of Pennsylvania, Fla., flatly states: "Before I found Cat's Claw, I was dead — DEAD! This herb gave me more than a miracle — it gave me back my life."

D.S. of Elba, AL, is equally enthusiastic. He says: "The pain in my hip joints crippled me for years. Just two months after I started Cat's Claw the pain is gone. I jump up and [illegible] like a 16 year old."

C.G. of Statesboro, GA, goes even further than that. She says: "I had prostate cancer and Cat's Claw stopped them dead in their tracks. I was in bad shape and kept saying 'Thank you Lord for the Cat's Claw.' I am going on 80, jumping rope and doing exercise. Four years ago I was almost to the point I needed a walking cane or a walker."

Mark Baumgarten, Tucson, AZ, says: "Thanks to Swiss Automation and the Lord I found this wonderful rain forest herb. It has turned my life around."

D.C. of Lake Worth, FL, knows the power of Cat's Claw well. He says: "I take Cat's Claw every day like a vitamin tablet and the doctor called the results of our recent physical 'miraculous.' It included a grueling, 26 function blood test. Spectacular."

"I have energy to spare and feel stronger, sharper and more alert than I did at age of 30. It might sound like a joke, but I'm as serious as a preacher when I say that with Cat's Claw in my medicine chest, I am 100 percent confident that I will never be sick again. Cat's Claw is God's herb. There's not a doctor alive, not a medical technology available, that could make anything like this. Only God can make a miracle — and that's exactly what Cat's Claw is."

Breakthrough research in Europe, where doctors routinely recommend herbs and herbal therapies as an integral part of all medical treatment, has confirmed the miraculous healing powers of Una de Gato. It is equally dramatic. After long and intensive study, an esteemed Austrian researcher identified several important alkaloids — active ingredients — found in the Cat's Claw herb. An extract is now being used as adjunctive therapy in the treatment of severe immune disorders.

It's no secret that a strong immune system enables the body to ward off or banish diseases and maladies of every description, even the most painful, debilitating and terrifying known to man.

Pure, powerful, premium Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is, in fact, available without a prescription in the United States. You are strongly advised, however, to purchase yours from a reliable, trusted source. Infinity Herbs has sold and shipped premium, money back guaranteed Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) to well over 10,000 satisfied customers the world over since 1996. And at just $15 per bottle of 100, 500mg capsules, Infinity's Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is a tremendous bargain. Please don't settle for cheap imposters or waste your hard-earned money on over-priced products costing $25 to $30 or more. Infinity's Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is not only priced right, it is pure, powerful and certified. Not only that, Infinity's Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is guaranteed to change your life — or your money back.

My stupid neighbors just won a $7 million lottery

. . . and it makes me want to vomit!

I'D RATHER LIVE NEXT DOOR TO THE BEVERLY HILLBILLIES!

I'm madder than Donald Trump with a maxed-out MasterCard that my stupid neighbors won $7 million in the state lottery.

That means that my good pals, the dog-eats-wife and their five brats will get $230,000 a year until the year 2015.

Great Caruso on a stick! I threw up a half pint of Old Crow and the last of pork rinds I had put down the hatch.

That's after I looked out my window and saw the 100-foot power lines they just bought sitting in the driveway.

The thing looks like a Hubble Telescope with wheels.

Two days ago an 18-wheeler pulled up in front of their house and unloaded heaps of cheaper-than-dirt assembled furniture for seven straight days.

Just take a look inside their house and you'll know what you get for spending a million dollars at Woolworth's. I'm serious and most folk about broke down when they found out the Hoover Trailer Essential Award for Price-Value

I used to think that Elvis was crazy for putting shag carpet on the walls of Graceland. Well, these jokers made feet of The King — because that's exactly what they did.

But what makes me so pea-brained mad is the satellite dish they installed on the front yard. The thing must be 21 feet in diameter — about the size of the ones in Cape Canaveral that NASA uses to search for alien life in deep space.

What really burns me up though is the car they bought. They traded in a perfectly functional Buick Skylark wagon and $12,000 in cash for a pre-owned 1967 Rolls-Royce Silver Cloud.

With the gold-dusted walnut steering wheel.

Do you know what this thing looks like in my neighborhood?

Picture me while I finish off my bottle of Old Crow.

And when the whole family piles in this thing for a trip to the supermarket, I'd rather be living next door in the Beverly Hillbillies.

But that's not the half of it. Folks here think the trash is planning to build the World's Largest Above-Ground Pool. Wonder what that'll do for my property value?

Thank God I can't really the old-fashioned way — by smoking. This will do it.

I just don't think I could stomach getting rich because six Ping-Pong balls with numbers painted on them were sucked up in a vacuum tube.

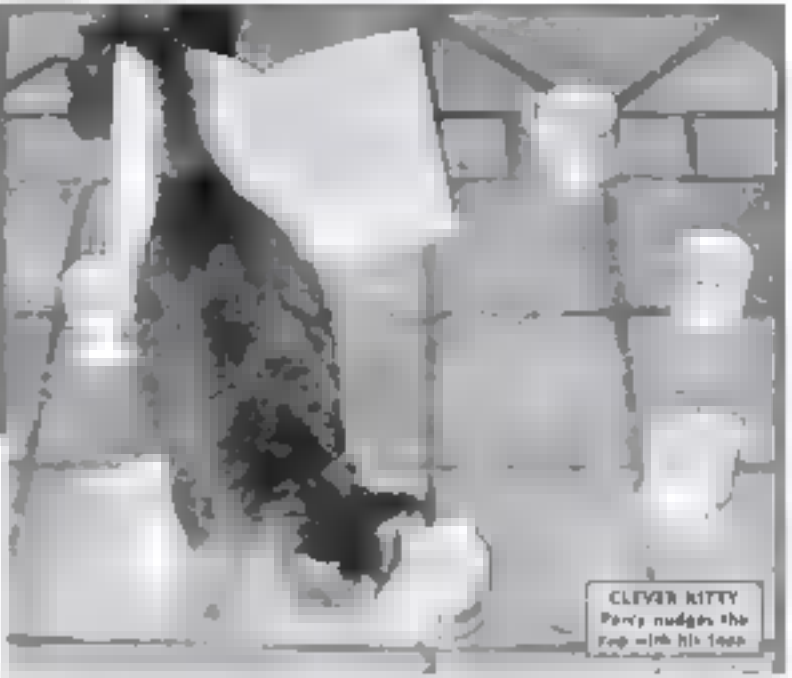
CAT PICKS RACE HORSES & WINS OVER $250,000



CLEVER KITTY
Perry nudges the cup with his nose

By RICK TRACY • Weekly World News

MONTCLAIR, N.J. — High roller Rudy Moritz has made a small fortune betting the horses since he found a near PURRfect handicapper — his pet cat Perry!

The clever kitty cat's incredible handicapping ability has enabled Moritz, 35, to bank more than $250,000 in the past 11 months. He has paid off his credit cards, bought a Jaguar and is shopping for a luxury condo in Las Vegas.

"No horse race handicapper I've ever known can hold a candle to my Perry," Moritz told Weekly World News. "Not Andy Beyer, not Rory Rosborough . . . not anybody."

Beyer and Rosborough are nationally known and highly respected handicappers featured in the Daily Racing Form.

The frustrated carpenter admitted he was ready to kiss the horses goodbye more than a year ago after maxing out his credit cards during an extended losing streak.

"I went nuts. I had no confidence in my handicapping. I was so discouraged and desperate. I even bet my birth date, my license tag number, my street address . . . everything. Nothing worked," Moritz said.

One evening when Moritz was really "down," Perry jumped up onto his lap.

"As I petted Perry, I got this crazy idea. Why not let him pick the winners. What have I got to lose?" Moritz said.

He bought a racing form that listed the following day's races at Monmouth Park. In the first race, there were eight entries.

"I placed eight roller cups in a circle on the kitchen floor, numbered them one through eight and placed a kitty treat in each cup," Moritz explained. "I placed Perry in the middle of the circle. Whatever numbered cup he nudged his face to first was the number I would bet.

"I repeated the procedure for each race on the 10 race card with the number of cups corresponding to the number of horses entered in each race. If Perry ignored all of the cups in a particular race, I decided not to bet that race."

Moritz had phenomenal luck at Monmouth the next day betting $10 to win on each of Perry's eight picks. Six of them won, including two long shots. The super-smart cat had ignored the fourth and sixth races.

"Call it luck or whatever but my Perry has picked winners 48 percent of the time since that day," Moritz said.

"It's unbelievable. He's made me rich and we're just getting started." The precious 3 year-old pet now eats nothing but the finest gourmet cat food, and has a full time bodyguard, groom and veterinarian who travel from track to track with Moritz.

"I've got in cash in on my lovable lucky cat while I can," Moritz said.

"As much as I love the little guy, he's not going to live forever."

HIGH-TECH ALIEN WEAPONS STOLEN BY RUSSIAN MAFIA

. . . AND THEY'RE BEING SOLD TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER!

DISGUISED as a radar station, this secret UFO research facility operated for many years before the Reagan administration

President Clinton calls emergency meeting of National Security Agency

A top-secret base in Siberia, once known to UFO researchers as "The Soviet Area 51," has been looted by the Russian Mafia!

By MIKE FOSTER

Now President Clinton is deeply concerned — because the lowlife that controlled alien technology has fallen into the hands of the world's most ruthless criminals.

"The possibility that Russian mobsters now have access to weapons far more advanced than anything on Earth is, frankly, terrifying," said a source at the National Security Agency.

Experts warn that the crooks now use the alien-made death rays, mind-control implant chips and other devices to recruit crews armed the [illegible] nations like Iraq and Iran," warned the source, who was present at an emergency meeting called by the President.

The Russian Federation, [illegible] about 20 miles north of Gabala, has been an object of U.S. intelligence activity ever since it was built in the mid-1960s. Like America's Area 51 — the "secret" Air Force base in Nevada made famous by the film Independence Day — it was used as a center for testing and studying the remains of downed UFOs.

[illegible] weapons and [illegible] systems, engineers [illegible] the space race of the 1960s was nothing compared to the race to gain technological superiority that took place among the same people [illegible] Soviet Union.

Every time a flying saucer crashed somewhere in the world, each side would [illegible] to get [illegible] there. There were sometimes armed confrontations when the sides got there almost at the same time, and there's no doubt that a number of the aliens [illegible] were damaged during [illegible] retrieval."

After the Russian Federation [illegible] declared [illegible] a decade and [illegible] the last of them [illegible] a UFO [illegible] and [illegible] of the art again [illegible] the world.

Over the following decades, [illegible] each [illegible] worked to gain [illegible].

But with the collapse of the U.S.S.R. and the end of the Cold War in the early 1990s, Russian funding for the UFO research unit was drastically [illegible]. Many of the [illegible] members of President Boris Yeltsin's cabinet, more concerned with keeping the people fed than wasting money developing weapons for a Cold World war, ordered the NSA source. Yeltsin has privately told President Clinton that earlier this year a well-armed group of thugs stormed the base.

They easily overpowered the soldiers on duty and tied them up — then they stole everything in sight," said the source.

Now, hoping to keep the [illegible] weapons from becoming misused, President Clinton is said to be considering making Russia [illegible] or offer to buy them all. But the price tag could be high. The NSA puts the worth of the stolen goods at about 20

Dear Serena: If I open a used clothing store will it be a success? I have a lot of old clothes lying around the house and I figure I could make a ton of money just from selling them. Then if I could get people to sell me their old clothes, I could double the price on them and make a big profit. My husband says I'll be out of business within a week. Dear Ambitious: He's totally wrong and I hope you don't let him discourage you. Business will be slow the first couple of months but if you stick with it you'll be making more money than you ever imagined — and you'll even open a second store within a year.

Should I murder my wife — or lock her in the basement?

DANIEL in Springfield

Dear Dotti: My wife of six months is a stark-raving lunatic. Before we got hitched, I thought her strange behavior was cute. But now that we're living together, I realize she's crazy as a loon. For one thing, she communicates with bugs. She also thinks she controls the weather — and is absolutely convinced that the moon is "following her" when we're driving in the car at night. Just the other day, she told me she's pregnant with "the new Messiah!" There's no telling what kind of crazy story she's going to come up with next.

Sometimes I feel like putting her out of her misery with my shotgun. Other times I think I'll just chain her to the plumbing in our basement to keep her out of trouble. I'm really at the end of my rope, Dotti. What should I do? — Daniel in Springfield

Dear Daniel: If you ask me, both solutions are a little too drastic — especially since you're a board-certified psychiatrist!

Dear Desperate in Alaska: Are you sure you're still not getting a rise out of my readers?

Dear Insomniac in Chicago: Some people rub EVERYBODY the wrong way — and you're clearly one of them!

Dear Newlywed in Ohio: And don't get a ring so tight it'll cut off your circulation!

Dear Worried in Montana: You should have thought about that before you had child No. 1!

Dear Brain-Damaged in Texas: Sure, I certainly can't disagree with your diagnosis!

Dear Not Up to Dotti: Bad marriage is a load of crap ... shame and all!

Dear Hoping in Florida: Chances of the man in your picture getting divorced, a hundred grand and you are YOU paying for the lousy ticket is slim to none!

Dear Philosophical in Colorado: I don't care if you have six months to live or six days. There IS a shelf life on your mate that's up — so you'll soon find out!

Dear Desperate in Idaho: I'll admit, your future is ugly. But he's NOT!

REA in Columbia

Dear Dotti: I have three grandchildren who are native to the race. They hardly ever call or come over to see me. And when they do come, I wish they hadn't — because they get in my purse and steal every penny I have. I've lost hundreds of dollars to them, Dotti, and I'm tired of it. Help me, please! — Rea in Columbia

Dear Rea: You're complaining about something that is all your fault. After all, if you had raised your own children to be decent, upstanding people, they wouldn't have turned those thieving little creeps that you call "grandkids."

Anyone over the age of 70 should be shot on sight!

Dear Dotti: I hate geezers and I don't care who knows it. They look like animal meat pie in the way dried in their food and half of the time they don't even know what the people around them are talking about. Even worse, they're crotchety — and drivers as well as citizens. "The good old days" I say to everybody who

Mom is a beautiful lady — and so is Dad!

Dear Dotti: My mother and father are both wonderful people but they're not like other folks. I guess it's because they're lesbians. They adopted me when I was a baby and I know they love me very much. But it's embarrassing whenever my friends come to the house and find out my mom and dad are both women. ## Dream gal punched me out — then left for good!

Dear Dotti: A long time ago I fell in love with a sweet lady who had everything going her way. She was beautiful, warm, intelligent and witty. She had plenty of money. She had it all. And even better from my point of view, we were a team. We thought alike and didn't even have to speak to understand perfectly what the other was thinking. Then one terrible day that sweet little lady punched me in the mouth and stormed out of my life. I've been in agony to this day. What can I do to get her back? I've tried calling, but she won't return my messages. I don't know if I can go on without her. My life is meaningless, and I sometimes get suicidal.

A Washington insider says the CIA has been ordered to "find and eliminate" the organization.

"The federal government is very disturbed by these people," said the White House source who agreed to talk on condition of anonymity. "For a while they laughed them off as a wacky fringe group.

"But as more and more of their predictions came true, these people are being perceived as a real threat to the Washington power structure. The President himself is afraid their grim forecasts will cause worldwide panic if enough people learn about them."

But the NEWS has always believed in giving its readers an opportunity to hear a variety of views, allowing them to decide for themselves whether they have validity.

For that reason, the NEWS is presenting The Nostradamus 10's latest booklet in its entirety in installments. It deals in depth with events the group thinks will occur before the end of 1998.

Here, then, is part two of the series, this week dealing with the impact of international events on our future:

1 FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC TERRORISM — Terrorism is now a major threat to the U.S. and will be coming from different directions, employing different weapons. Here are the main problems:

First, the CIA and FBI currently agree that Russian nuclear materials and enriched uranium to make nuclear weapons have already been stolen by elements of Russian organized crime — and been already been shipped abroad. Fearing public panic, the White House put a lid on these shipments. Data

Who is the suspect? Because there are about 30 [illegible] against Russia — most of them being [illegible] that [illegible] are stolen. A [illegible] published Quarterly [illegible] ed by a couple of bartered [illegible] guarded by a handful of [illegible] who are paid [illegible]

Five years of these soldiers are at least [illegible] down a million dollars and sale passage [illegible] their families. The [illegible] Arsenals dwarf. And outlaw states have already acquired these weapons-making [illegible] and [illegible]

Second, nuclear weapons are not the greatest threat. Chemical and biological weapons can be far more lethal — and are easier and cheaper to make and "cleaner." The Aum Shinrikyo cult in Japan, for example, could have killed hundreds of thousands of people. And remember, not all of their chemical stockpiles have been found.

Some very, very bad people around the world are hard at work creating non-nuclear weapons of mass destruction — and there's little that can be done to stop them.

Third, after the Oklahoma City disaster, we now face domestic terrorism — but that is a lesser problem.

Why? Because these militia groups are easy to infiltrate, and any acts of terrorism will alienate all but the most hard-core extremists.

Predictions. Something catastrophic is going to happen in the next 24 months — far worse than the bombing in Oklahoma City.

Too much nuclear, chemical and biological material is available and there are too many deadly extremist groups prepared to do anything to accomplish their goals for some act of ultimate terrorism not to take place.

Oh yes. And when the "big bang" happens big city property values will take a huge hit. Rural and suburban property values, on the other hand, will go up!

2 ...ed bombing of day and tunnels in New ...ool for more acts of ..., especially on the ...st Coast. "The Great Satan" is a natural target.

4 NO HOPE FOR AFRICA — This is truly a continent without hope. Starvation, AIDS, ... Assassinations ... this place is truly hopeless.

Even the continent's best hope, Mandela's South Africa, is now a nation under siege. Violent crime has skyrocketed and is scaring off foreign investment and the government seems to be drifting, and out of touch with changing conditions.

Our forecast: The chaos will continue, but with a difference. The rest of the world is ceasing to care.

5 ASIAN AIDS THREAT — More than most people realize, this disease is out of control in certain Asian countries and spreading fast.

Thailand, with its booming economy, is the worst example. Official studies — suppressed by the Thai government, incidentally — show that 12 percent of all males drafted into the army are HIV positive. That same report estimates that 20 percent of the entire population will be HIV positive by the end of the decade. This information has not been released, because the government is terrified. And for good reason.

The economy of Thailand will be devastated by the end of the decade — and that's the easiest forecast we've made of all the ones printed here.

Should you invest in Asia? Quite possibly, yes. But first check out information about AIDS — it's very relevant.

6 GUERRILLA WARFARE COMING TO MEXICO — Mexico continues to be one of the most ... totalitarian "democracies" on Earth -- despite the efforts of President Ernesto Zedillo to reform that officially sanctioned criminal syndicate.

Colombian drugs now use Mexico as a transit route to the U.S., and hundreds of millions (or billions) of dollars flood the country. Meanwhile, the birthrate escalates and poverty is one step up from Africa.

Now comes the real trouble. A well trained/financed guerrilla force has launched an all-out attack on governmental installations, killing without mercy.

We predict a lengthy conflict that will devastate the Mexican economy. Look for waves of ... refugees.

3 MUSLIM FUNDAMENTALISM — The rise of Muslim fundamentalism in North Africa and the Near East is very scary and will topple the government in Algeria next year.

As with Iran, this new regime will be bitterly anti-West and, but not a major security risk to the West because of Algeria's monumental domestic problems. Instead, the threat will be directed at other Arab nations — Morocco, especially. Expect some huge consequences later in the decade, especially in Egypt ... where the regime of Hosni Mubarak will surely fall.

Of course, America has been experiencing something of Muslim fundamentalism firsthand. The bombing of the World Trade Center and the

by ACE reporter
Weekly World News

VIDEO shows high-ranking Russians frolicking buck-naked with gals in a Moscow sauna

MOSCOW — Outraged Russians were rocked this month when a newspaper published photographs of playboy President Boris Yeltsin and three other potbellied political leaders frolicking buck-naked in a Moscow sauna — with six nude beauty queens!

Sources say cigar-puffing Justice Minister Valentin Kovalev and Transportation Assistant Minister Vladimir Kvasov were among those caught letting it all hang out in a sauna frequented by gangsters. The fourth rub-a-dub revealer was identified only as a high-ranking finance minister.

"This is wrong, very wrong — the people are not going to stand for [illegible] indignant businesswoman Natasha Nikolaeva.

"Our country is falling apart at the seams. Housewives must wait in line for hours to buy bread and potatoes to feed their children. And the politicians who should be hard at work solving our problems are lounging around in a sauna, playing sex games with naked girls young enough to be their grandchildren.

"These pictures show our great leaders for what they are — fat, disgusting, dirty old men."

The blubbery bigwigs' risqué romps came to light when a tabloid newspaper ran grainy photos originally captured on videotape showing the wrinkled Romeos in full romp with half a dozen curvaceous cuties — including a former Miss Moscow.

"They were having an old-fashioned Roman orgy there, fondling and kissing those naked girls and giggling like a bunch of schoolkids," said astonished Oleg Arnaldov, editor of the newspaper that unleashed the story on an unsuspecting world.

RUSSIAN President Yeltsin has become a real party animal.

Judge sentences killer to death — then finds out he's her son!

"I MARCHED for that boy for 30 years," laments heartsick mom, Judge Sonya Encinia.

By JOE SIEGEL

Unsuspecting Judge Sonya Encinia sentenced a young murderer to die before a firing squad — then learned to her horror that the bloodthirsty thug was her own long-lost son!

"I searched for that boy high and low for 30 years, and to finally find him like this — to see what he's become — is almost more than I can bear," said shattered Sonya, 54.

"It had been so long since I'd seen him, I didn't even recognize him as he stood before me. But the judgment I passed was a fair one and I wouldn't reverse it even if I could — because the sad fact is, my son does not deserve to live."

The heart-tugging tale began in 1971 when Sonya's son Rafael, then 2, was snatched off the streets of Asuncion, Paraguay.

The shaken lady then a government prosecutor organized a massive search for the brown-eyed tyke but no trace was ever found.

"As the years went by, my mind told me my son was dead — but my heart never gave up hope," the stunned judge recalled.

The devastated lady learned recently that Rafael had been abducted by henchmen for brutal drug kingpin Carlos garcation," she said. "The scum took my sweet little boy and turned him into a cold blooded killer."

And earlier this year, Dr. Duque dispatched ruthless Rafael, now 23 and known as Humberto Santa, to Asuncion to murder a former associate.

The sadistic hit man brutalized the killer's house and kissed him, his wife and their three children to kingdom come with a shotgun. He was arrested that day and convicted of five counts of murder.

"After hearing the evidence, I sentenced him to die — and I felt that if anyone ever deserved it, he did," said the mortified mom. "But two days later, the real cruel irony set in.

"A newspaper reporter interviewed the killer about his life and he mentioned that the man who raised him in Colombia had told him he'd been stolen from his parents on the streets of Asuncion.

"I thought this couldn't possibly be my Rafael, but I had to find out for sure. And when I had his fingerprints compared to those in Rafael's hospital file, I knew I had found my little boy at last.

"Sadly, though, the reunion will be a short one — because Rafael will die by firing squad two weeks from Thursday. I set the date myself."

. . . and they're planning to attack Earth in 1998!

By RACHEL LUH Weekly World News

HOUSTON, Texas — Intelligent beings from another planet have set up a colony on the moon — and the extraterrestrials are a warlike species who plan to invade our world by the end of 1998!

Amazing photos taken by a NASA satellite during a top secret sweep of the moon's surface prove what many experts have suspected for years: Earth's near est neighbor, the moon, is not a barren empty chunk of rock. It's a hotbed of dangerous alien activity.

Dr Max Lambert, a former NASA scientist, smuggled the photos out of the space agency's headquarters. He revealed them to reporters here along with a complete dossier on the mysterious alien base that dates all the way back to 1961.

"Earth is in very grave danger from these space warriors," says Dr Lambert.

"All the evidence indicates that the so-called 'moon dwellers' are not native to the moon. They left their home planet in another [illegible] and that colonizing the moon is just the first stage of their ultimate plan. Conquest of our entire solar system.

"Computer enhanced en largements of the photos show that in addition to barracks, stables and schools, they've constructed military bases complete with strange powerful-looking weapons weapons pointed, unmistakably, toward Earth.

"And all the evidence indicates that they could be ready to strike by 1998."

Dr Lambert said he's seen some evidence that the alien beings may even be colonizing other planets right here in our own solar system, such as Mars and Venus.

Scientists have been unable to explain the crystals that have been observed on Mars for years.

But now they believe that the moon dwellers may have dug them in transport their weapons from base to base.

NASA has refused to officially confirm the existence of the moon dwellers or acknowledge that a probe has either was ever launched.

But Dr Lambert said the space administration is hiding the threat "very serious ly."

He says: "It has the same kind of potential for disaster as the Cuban missile crisis back in 1962 when President Kennedy went eye to eye with Castro and forced him to back down.

"But this is worse because our entire planet is living under the threat of destruction.

"It's time for our world leaders to stop bickering and unite to defend our planet."

UFO COVER UP: Rex and Sarah Dubsnell point out the locations of the salvage operation from the dock of their lakeside home.

Military removes UFO wreckage from Florida lake — with 3 aliens on board!

By STEVEN CREED · Staff Reporter

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — The U.S. military removed the wreckage of a UFO from the bottom of a lake — and there were at least three space alien passengers in the disc-shaped craft.

At this point, it is not known whether the E.T.s were killed in the crash or are still living in government custody.

Rex and Sarah Dubsnell, who watched the entire salvage operation from the dock of their lakeside home, say the secret mission took place just 40 yards from where they stood.

"I couldn't believe that was happening in the one area in Dubsnell Lake [name changed] ... Everybody — of course," said Mrs. Dubsnell.

But the alien encounter ...

And ... really part of ... the Everglades is ... reported to be a hotbed of UFO activity.

Authorities say there have been dozens of reports of strange sightings in the region during the past year or so. Dubsnell says several neighbors had seen lights in the water, but didn't report it until ...

"I was on the dock [one night] and I saw a ... light. [Then] ... and I were awakened from a sound sleep by a bright light flooding ... the bedroom. It was brighter than the moon, but ...

Several of their neighbors also saw the lights over the lake and called the Dubsnells' house, but the Dubsnells were afraid to tell anyone what they had seen.

"I have no idea how they got here so fast," said Mrs. Dubsnell. "They must have been tracking the ...

Wheelchair stripper divorcing rich sheik!

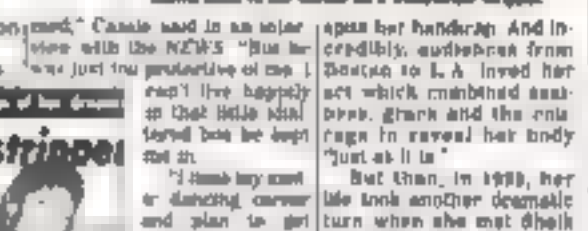
SEXY SHOWGIRL Cassie James shocked her staff — in a wheelchair.

SAN 'A, Yemen — Yet another chapter has been written in the life of feisty Cassie James, the spirited woman who refused to let her confinement to a wheelchair curtail her career as a stripper or prevent her from marrying one of the richest men in the world.

By KEVIN CREED
Weekly World News

Now, after only four years of marriage, the famed "paraplegic pecker" has told Weekly World News she is divorcing Arab oil billionaire Sheik Ahmed Ibn Hassoud.

"I miss my exotic dancing,' says free-spirited gal!



MILLIONAIRE Sheik shared the limelight, left, with companionship of his high-spirited wife, above, and she helped back to her career as a wheelchair stripper.

"I miss my exotic dancing," Cassie said in an interview with the NEWS. "But he was just too protective of me. I can't live happily in that little kingdom, but he won't let me."

"I think my exotic dancing career and plan to get back to it when I return to the U.S. in September."

Cassie's painful story has been chronicled regularly in the pages of the NEWS ever since her May 7, 1991, issue told of the successful stripper's brave triumph over the tragic auto accident that crushed her spine and left her unable to walk.

Confined to a wheelchair, facing the end of her career, the brave exotic dancer made a decision that stunned the world: She would continue to strip despite her handicap. And incredibly, audiences from Boston to L.A. loved her act which combined sensuous grace and the courage to reveal her body "just as it is."

But then, in 1990, her life took another dramatic turn when she met Sheik Hassoud, the man she called "the love of my life."

After a much-publicized courtship, Hassoud — 14th on the list of the world's wealthiest men — made her his bride.

Her career as a stripper was over and her life as a happy housewife was beginning.

Or so it seemed. "I really thought it would work out," says Cassie, now 31. "We loved each other passionately. But I found marriage to him far too confining.

"After four years, we have decided to go our separate ways."

Rather than worrying that his finding might be viewed as sacrilegious, Sicilian researcher Antonio Markelli is touting it as proof the Shroud is genuine, and that Jesus was indeed the Son of God.

"Until lately it was believed that holy beings — not just evil ones like the Devil — had horns," explained the imaging expert. "We can see evidence of this in the famed statue of Moses by Alfredo Angeli. The biblical patriarch is clearly depicted with a pair of horns ... because people of the artist's time were convinced that every holy figure would have them.

SEX AND THE

Both women and men expect sex to be physically satisfying, but for many women it is not. Although sex virtually always includes his orgasm, hers is optional. Nice, but not necessary.

That's just one of the fascinating revelations in Are We Having Fun Yet? The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Sex, by Marcia Douglass, Ph.D. and Lisa Douglass, Ph.D. (Hyperion)

Seventy-five percent of men have orgasms in partner sex on a regular basis, but only 29 percent of women do. It is difficult to imagine men accepting sex that diminished their orgasm. Yet heroic women have learned to accept this double standard; the orgasm gap has hardly budged over decades of sexual change.

The gap continues in a sexual environment that seems to be more open than ever about sex. Intimate details of sexual activity are discussed in sober sex instruction and on television talk shows. But the orgasm gap is rarely discussed. It is simply accepted as the way sex is.

Women are not inherently less orgasmic than men. In fact, women are physically capable of multiple orgasms. Women who have sex with a female partner climax 83 percent of the time. Clearly, the problem lies not with women themselves, but in the way heterosexuals have sex.

Most people attribute the orgasm gap to biology, ignoring the fact that we learn to have sex and orgasm according to the beliefs of our particular culture. In the United States, people believe that there is a difference in hormones that makes men want and need sex more than women. They believe men reach their sexual peak at 18, while most women's sexuality surges at 33. They believe that women have a harder time than men having an orgasm as a result of some evolutionary master plan of nature. But the real culprit is the way women and men are taught the basic rules of sex: It leaves out her orgasm.

Others, including many sex authorities, believe that women don't have orgasm because they have psychological hang-ups about sex. But even the most secretive and uninhibited woman will not have an orgasm unless she gets the appropriate stimulation. Yet the sexual culture defines sex in such a way that we either never learn to use — or are discouraged from using — the kind of stimulation that works.

The information a woman receives about orgasm can be so garbled and contradictory she often gives up listening. Orgasm should come from intercourse, she is told, yet for most women it never does. Don't worry if you have never had an orgasm or only have them sometimes, she hears. Sex is so

. . . The most [redacted] & controversial research since the Kinsey Report!

SEX IS MUCH MORE THAN ORGASM: It is romance, sensuality, emotional intimacy, and above all, an expression of love. But love is not enough to make sex good. And bad sex can interfere with love.

women do not have orgasm because they have psychological hang-ups about sex. But even the most secretive and uninhibited woman will not have an orgasm unless she gets the appropriate stimulation. Yet the sexual culture defines sex in such a way that we either never learn to use — or are discouraged from using — the kind of stimulation that works.

The information a woman receives about orgasm can be so garbled and contradictory she often gives up listening. Orgasm should come from intercourse, she is told, yet for most women it never does. Don't worry if you have never had an orgasm or only have them sometimes, she hears. Sex is so good and above all an expression of love.

But love is not enough to make sex good. And bad sex can interfere with love. For women who find sex more frustrating than pleasurable, more of a duty than an opportunity, not having orgasms takes them further away from a loved partner, not closer. When the man has an orgasm but the woman does not, sex is not only less fun, but a gap also can develop between the lovers in which doubt, anger, and blame begin to fester. Some women just stop having sex.

The orgasm gap can be bridged only by changing the way we have sex. That means changing the sexual culture and confronting the assumptions upon which it is based. One such assumption have a sex drive that motivates our sexual behavior. Yet as Lenore Tiefer's recent book proclaims in its title, Sex Is Not a Natural Act.

Everyone who has had sex knows that it involves not only the body, but also the mind and spirit. They know that it occurs in the context of complex relations with other people. Recognizing that sex is a product of our culture opens possibilities for change. Reinventing sex is a radical project that involves more than just trying new positions or buying a kinky toy. It requires thinking in profoundly different ways about the body, about power relations between women and men, and about sex itself. It means developing a new language to ## unsatisfied wives and lovers . . . and what YOU can do about it!

AMERICAN WOMAN

struggle with what we call "the body thing." We learn from the time we are young to treat our bodies as perpetual improvement projects as we strive to emulate an externally imposed image of what is sexy.

In our society, a sexy woman is an item of consumption, and man is her consumer. Equating sex with an idealized female image puts the rest of us in a sexual no-person's land. Most of us know that the sexual culture does not have us in mind when, for example, a magazine article titled "Sex Is Illustrated" with a 19-year-old blonde in a Wonderbra and spike heels.

In a culture that equates sex with the female body, a woman is told that she deserves sexual pleasure only if she looks attractive. Many of us get great satisfaction from dressing up, but focusing on being attractive on the outside can interfere with sexual satisfaction within. A woman may never fully relax or respond in bed with desire if she develops her sexuality based on the way others see, touch and treat her.

The notion of a natural sex drive helps validate men's sexual priority. It is believed that women simply never experience the same sexual urges as men. Indeed, some men blame their uncontrollable sex drive when they pressure women for sex. It is often given as the reason that men cheat. It seems that men simply cannot help themselves when sex goes into overdrive. For a woman to express a strong sex drive is seen as unnatural, even immoral. But neither men's so-called sex drive nor women's apparent indifference to sex is the product of biology in a society that organizes sex around achieving men's orgasm and that caters to men's sexual pleasure in countless other ways, it is not surprising that a woman might show less interest in sex. But it is not because we were born that way.

Reinventing sex requires that women recognize the problems of the sexual culture. Many women are aware of the orgasm gap but prefer not to confront it. Some feminists and sex therapists fear that encouraging women to strive for orgasm only adds to the women's feelings of inadequacy. This view may inadvertently make orgasm even more elusive for women, as it implies that it is a woman's fault if she does not have orgasm.

Others downplay the importance of orgasm because they believe that to celebrate orgasm is to succumb to male values. In a more female-oriented sexuality, they suggest, sensual pleasures such as caressing, kissing and holding would supersede genital sex and orgasm. Widening women's spheres for sexual pleasure is important, but to dismiss orgasm is to throw out the baby with the bathwater. This view also falls into the gender-stereotyped orgasm vs. intimacy trap. Leaving women's physical pleasure vaguely defined makes it more likely that their natural capacity for orgasm will remain underdeveloped.

Crucial ingredients for reinventing sex have been contributed by people such as Shere Hite, who published a study reporting what thousands of women said about sex. The Hite Report: A Nationwide Study of Female Sexuality was a highly controversial book that revealed the discrepancy between what women were supposed to experience in sex and what they actually felt.

Critics found fault with its lack of statistical method—even though the gist of Hite's findings has been borne out by other, more "scientific" studies. Some bristled at its radical views of both sex and society. But many women found that what Hite was saying rang true to their own experience. The sexual culture was not ready to hear that sex was not as satisfying for women as it was for men.

SEX SOCIETY. A new woman is on the front of consumption, and she is not content as was the case with Marilyn Monroe and William Holden in the movie Sirer

An extension of the myth of gender differences is the belief that women and men want different things when they have sex. Women and men have indeed been taught to eat different slices of the sexual pie. But even after she gets her slice of closeness and he gets his serving of orgasm, they both may be left feeling hungry. Perhaps the reason men get sex less often than they want is because women are not sexually satisfied. And women who are sexually unsatisfied turn their interests elsewhere. Susan Quilliam, who surveyed British women on sex, suggests that women may focus on intimacy to compensate for the lack of orgasm. A woman who regularly has sex without orgasm would instead begin to think that pleasure must be elsewhere.

With the mantra "women want intimacy and men want sex," sexuality splits into two parts, each assigned to one gender. Author-turned-relationship-guru John Gray goes even further. He argues in his books Men Are From Mars, Women Are From Venus and

A LOPSIDED 75 percent of men have sexual problems, while 43 percent of women do. Yet the sexual culture has little to say about male sexual problems. Men are supposed to be sexual machines, always ready, willing and able. Men are not supposed to have problems with sex. Men are not supposed to have sexual problems. Men are not supposed to have sexual problems. Men are not supposed to have sexual problems

Man tosses phony vomit on wife's $106 carpet — and gives her a heart attack!

KOLDING, Denmark — Hapless Tom Hansen made the biggest mistake of his life when he jokingly tossed fake vomit on his wife's fancy new carpet — causing her to have a fatal heart attack!

By Karl Clark
Weekly World News

"I'll never forgive myself — never, ever," the 61-year-old man told reporters.

"I loved my wife with all my heart. We were inseparable through 12 years of marriage.

I wanted to play a little joke, that's all. She just overreacted."

In his statement to police, Hansen said the tragic drama unfolded after wife Kirsten spent $10,000 to carpet their living room.

The 44-year-old nurse had saved for years to afford her white wool "dream carpet" and was determined to keep it mint and clean — no matter what.

"For years and years the floors were covered with a ratty old carpet that looked awful and smelled worse," said Hansen, who owns a small hardware store.

"Kirsten dreamed of getting a new carpet, and when she finally saved the cash she needed to buy it she couldn't contain her excitement.

"To tell you the truth, I thought the wife starting to act a little bugsy.

"I kept telling her, 'It's just a carpet.' But it was a lot more than a carpet to her.

"It was a dream come true."

The day the carpet was installed Mrs. Hansen told her husband that he could no longer wear shoes in the house — or smoke in the den.

"I thought she was going too far so I decided to play a trick to bring her back down to Earth," he explained.

"I bought some fake throw-up at a novelty shop and tossed it on the living room where she would be sure to see it.

"I hid behind the sofa so I could see her reaction but she didn't say a word. She just clutched her chest and groaned. Then she hit the floor."

Hansen said he tried to shake his wife back to consciousness without success. He then called for paramedics who pronounced the woman dead where she lay.

Heart specialist Torben Stiller later confirmed that the woman suffered "a massive coronary that in all likelihood was caused by the shock of seeing bogus vomit on her floor."

Police investigated but ruled no foul play. In his official report, detective Helmuth Hering said: "Practical jokes are not an instrument of murder."

Hansen said, "If I could turn back the hands of time, or give my life in place of hers, I would. Unfortunately, things don't work that way.

"I'll live with my guilt until the day I die."

SOMEONE IN THIS FAMILY IS A PHONE-SEX ADDICT!

They all deny making $21,243 in calls to X-rated 900 numbers!

FRANTIC FATHER of three Wes DeMathes has disconnected the family phone until it's determined who's been running up the phone bill.

WHO DUNNIT?

By JOE BERGER/Weekly World News

LOS ANGELES — Frantic parents Wes and Madeleine DeMathes are desperately trying to determine who used their telephone to call X-rated sex lines from Houston to Hong Kong to Kingston, Jamaica — running up a whopping $21,243 bill in just two months!

"Whoever's doing this is driving us into the poorhouse, and until we find out who it is, everybody in the family is a suspect — including me, I guess," said bewildered Wes, 51.

"The phone company has checked, and they say there's no way anyone has tapped into our phone line, so the calls definitely were made on our phones. And since I'm pretty sure no one's been breaking into our house to do it, that narrows the list of suspects down to just us. I'm sorry to say."

Besides the rattled lab technician and his wife, that list includes the couple's three children — Thomas, 13, Angela, 14, and Kenneth, 12 — and Madeleine's mom Donna Estava, 72.

"Everybody here insists they had nothing to do with those calls, and I really want to believe them," said flabbergasted Madeleine, 44. "I know I didn't make them myself, and I think I keep my husband happy enough that he wouldn't have any need for phone sex.

"And I can't imagine any of my kids or my own mother sneaking around, listening to all that heavy breathing and stuff, either. My children are all classical honor students and my mom is vice president of the Garden Club. I can't believe any of them is a pervert in disguise."

DUMBFOUNDED mom Madeleine DeMathes can't believe anyone in her family made those sex calls — and she and Wes is wondering how he's going to pay the bills.

The saga of the naughty 900 calls began two months here and unsuspecting Wes learned he owed the phone company $11,581.

"Our bill is usually about $80 a month, so this was quite a shock," the frazzled dad recalled. "I went running down to the phone company office, and that's when I learned that all those calls on there were to sex lines around the world — some of them costing $15-$20 a minute.

"I guess I should have yanked my telephone out right then, but the phone company said they'd investigate because maybe somebody outside our house was using our line somehow.

"Trouble is, while they investigated, the calls kept piling up."

And earlier this month, the devastated DeMathes got a second bill — for a mind-boggling $9,662.

"That's when I finally had enough sense to get our phone disconnected," said desperate Wes. "And since the phone company has convinced me that someone in this family is making those calls, I've told everyone that the telephone won't be reconnected until somebody fesses up or we somehow get to the bottom of this.

"I'm not going to get a second

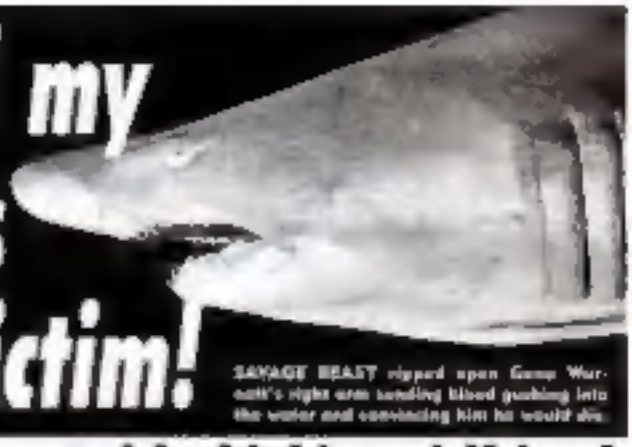
'Thong bikini saved my life,' says shark attack victim!



SAVAGE BEAST ripped open Gene Wurnett's right arm sending blood gushing into the water and convincing him he would die.

By KEVIN CREED | Weekly World News

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — A man survived a vicious shark attack, thanks to his quick-thinking girlfriend who stopped his bleeding by tying off a major artery in his arm — with her thong bikini!

The dramatic rescue took place off Fort Lauderdale Beach as Gene Wurnett and Laura Gavendale snorkeled on a coral reef from their small boat.

"That shark came from out of nowhere," said Wurnett, 34. "All of a sudden it had my forearm in its mouth and I felt those teeth clamp down on me.

"The pain was overwhelming. The blood started gushing out of me. I thought for sure I was going to die."

Miss Gavendale, 23, was on the other side of the boat when the attack occurred.

"I didn't even know Gene had been bitten until I lifted my head out of the water to adjust my mask and heard his screams," says the attractive part-time actress.

"I swam over and helped him onto the boat. Blood was everywhere.

"I've forgotten most of what I learned in my high school first aid course, but I remembered the word 'tourniquet.' I knew it was important to tie off a bleeding victim's artery to stop the bloodflow. But there was nothing on the boat that I could use.

"I tried the head strap on my mask but it kept stretching and breaking. Finally, I got the idea to use my bikini bottom."

Miss Gavendale slipped out of the thong and wrapped it around Wurnett's arm. Wurnett held it tightly with his left hand as Miss Gavendale started the boat and sped to shore. Wurnett was rushed to a hospital where the wound was treated.

"Mr. Wurnett is a very lucky man," said the attending physician.

"He might well have bled to death from a wound like that. There's been some muscle and tendon damage. But he should regain full use of the arm."

Experts say shark attacks in that area are rare.

MISS Gavendale demonstrates how she used her thong as a tourniquet on Wurnett.

Quick-thinking girlfriend used the only thing she could find to stop the bleeding — her swimsuit!

LUCKY TO BE ALIVE! Gene Wurnett should regain full use of his arm thanks to quick-thinking girlfriend Laura Gavendale.

Free heroin stops drug crime, Swiss claim!

BERN, Switzerland — The Swiss government says a new program that provides free heroin injections to addicts is an overwhelming success — and officials are recommending that the United States and other nations around the world adopt a similar program!

Experts say in the three years the program has been in operation, it's helped reduce the crime, misery and disease associated with drug addiction and has saved taxpayers millions of dollars.

"When an addict can go to a doctor and get his heroin free, he doesn't have to knock an innocent citizen over the head to get money to pay for his habit," said one official. "So naturally, crime rates have dropped dramatically."

Love your kids — or they'll get sick, says study

TUCSON, Ariz. — Children who believe their parents love them are healthier adults than children who don't feel love, a Tucsonan now study shows.

The finding by Dan University of Arizona psychologist Dr. Edward Ian Abel, of young people in the 1950s and follow-up interviews 40 years later.

Youngsters who felt their parents loved them suffered a far lower incidence of rheumatic fever, diabetes, ulcers and other illnesses in later life, Dr. Abel found.

Cops catch sicko serial killer who marinated and ate 67 people!

MOSCOW — A serial killer who slaughtered and ate at least 67 people was captured last week after eluding police for 21 years!

Russian authorities say auto mechanic Ivan Chulovitch, 64, preyed on the poor and homeless, luring them to his one-bedroom apartment, stabbing them and consuming parts of their bodies, including their brains.

Chulovitch's nightmarish roster of victims makes Milwaukee cannibal Jeffrey Dahmer, who killed only 17 people, look like a choir boy.

12-year-old boy escaped his clutches and alerted police.
